

H.R. Landowner Advisory

Professor Lex's Corner | John Tait | October 7, 2026

REVIEW EDITION — Seven mailing-list removal entries and a 487-entry public-role roster. Inclusion identifies the scope of review; it is not a finding of refusal or non-support.

Public responsibility demands answers

Taxpayers fund public service. Landowners deserve clear information, respectful treatment and answers to documented concerns.

This advisory explains how our independent Taxpayer H.R. enquiry will examine concerns about landowner notification, public decisions and responses. The public lists use only name, public role and municipality; the supporting evidence is retained separately.

Where a refusal to notify landowners is documented, who made that decision? Was it an individual decision, an established policy, or an instruction from someone else? What reason was given? Show the record.

Anyone holding or seeking public responsibility should be prepared to explain their decisions.

Unanswered questions do not disappear because the people asking them persist.

We will press for an independent Taxpayer H.R. accountability program that examines evidence, records responses and challenges documented failures.

This is a civic accountability initiative. We will distinguish documented decisions from unanswered questions and recognize constructive responses fairly.

Our findings must follow the evidence. Every person named may challenge an error—and H.R. must answer for its own mistakes too.

Taxpayer and Landowner H.R. Accountability

Named entries already under review

These named public roles relate to the enquiry and its existing accountability review. The full 487-entry roster follows in the appendix. Listing a public role is not an assessment of that person's support or conduct.

This notice is a prelaunch test of our H.R. assessments. Unanswered requests and blank assessments must not be presented as confirmed opposition.

Response record: Steve Clarke replied on October 3, 2026. John Tait's review identifies unresolved questions about landowner notice, loss assessment and remedies. His entry must not be described as "no response received".

Subscriptions complaints and corrections

Landowners and taxpayers may subscribe or submit documented complaints for research review. Any individual may report a possible error in H.R.'s own record.

Email: info.watersheddebacle@gmail.com | Website: WatershedDebacle.ca

For updates, use the email subject "Subscribe". For a complaint about public service, use "Taxpayer H.R. complaint" and include:

- Your name and reply address; the person, role and public body concerned.
- What happened, when and where; distinguish what you witnessed from what others reported.
- Original emails, letters, decisions, photographs or recordings, plus any response received and the correction or answer sought.

State whether your name and evidence may be published. Public versions will omit personal contact details. Complaints will be assessed against the supporting evidence.

H.R. CAN MAKE MISTAKES — PLEASE TELL US IF WE HAVE.

Any individual who believes an entry is wrong may email info.watersheddebacle@gmail.com with the subject "H.R. record correction". Identify the entry, the possible error, the correction sought and any supporting evidence. We will review the material, correct confirmed errors and identify information that remains disputed.

How H.R. will examine the evidence

A notification claim should be checked against the original request, any delivery record, the response, the notice said to have been circulated and evidence of its distribution. Keep original emails and attachments. Distinguish first-hand observations from recollections, opinions and unanswered questions.

Where a refusal is documented, look for the policy, directive, correspondence or meeting record identifying who decided and why. Similar wording or timing may justify further questions. The number of names on a roster does not establish instructions from a mayor's office.

A reply, a correction or evidence of notification may change an assessment. Review that material on its merits and preserve the record of the change.

Recording visits and requests to enter

Record your own conversations. The Criminal Code generally permits recording a private conversation when you participate and consent. This does not authorize recording others' private conversations without a participant's consent. Publication raises separate questions. [1]

Use cameras carefully. Focus cameras on your property and avoid neighbours' private spaces. Do not assume unattended audio recording is lawful. [1, 2]

Ask for identification and authority. Request the visitor's name, agency, purpose, and the statute or by-law section relied on. Ask whether entry is requested by consent or under a legal power, and ask to see any warrant or order.

A warrant is not always required. Some Ontario inspections can occur without one. Occupied homes have stronger entry protections, with statutory exceptions. The authority, purpose and area being entered matter. [3, 4]

Stay calm and preserve the record. If you withhold consent, say so calmly; this does not cancel an independent lawful entry power. Do not physically obstruct. Keep original recordings, notes, dates and documents. Seek prompt legal advice about disputed entry or an order. [3, 4]

Expanded public-role review roster

487 named entries | 372 candidates in the existing register | Compiled October 7, 2026

This appendix carries forward every named municipal candidate and staff contact in the September 10–11 outreach records, together with the additional named public-role entries above and Cayla Nelson from the removal record. Departmental inboxes, vacancies and private business contacts are not named employees and are excluded.

Support assessment is pending unless separately supported by correspondence. All 372 support-assessment rows in the September 11 candidate register are blank. Those blanks do not show whether a notice was delivered, whether a reply was received elsewhere, or whether the person supports the requested measures. A contact-list entry is not a finding of non-support.

Source basis: Watersheddebacle_2026_Master_Contacts.xlsx, Municipal Master (recorded verification September 10, 2026), and Candidate_HR_Assessment_2026-09-11.xlsx, Candidate Register. These are dated source records, not a fresh verification of every appointment or candidacy. Original municipal source links remain in the master workbook. Historical roles are identified where applicable.

Additional role checks: Severn Council, 2022–2026 (severn.ca/our-government/council/), and Orillia Elections and Voting (orillia.ca/my-government/council-and-committees/elections-and-voting/), checked October 7, 2026. Earlier role sources appear with the removal and named-review sections.

Any individual may request correction of a name, public role, municipality or associated assessment. Supporting records are reviewed separately; the public tables remain limited to the three fields below.

Our position on notification and accountability

Taxpayers fund public service. Landowners and employers deserve respectful treatment, clear answers and accountability for decisions that affect their property and livelihoods.

As of October 7, 2026, John Tait reports that no landowner has contacted this Inquiry to confirm receiving its landowner advisory through an official or candidate named in this record. This describes the contact reported to the Inquiry; it does not establish whether those individuals notified landowners through other channels.

The seven people in the separate removal-request record asked to leave our Landowner Advisory mailing list. Those requests will be respected. They are not recorded as requests to leave the H.R. accountability roster. The wider roster includes other people whose positions remain unassessed. A removal request or lack of contact does not establish opposition or deliberate withholding of information.

Our concern is whether affected landowners are receiving information that may matter to their property interests and their opportunity to seek independent legal advice. We seek documented answers about notification. We will describe any proven refusal accurately and in context, without treating unanswered questions as findings.

Where a refusal to notify landowners is documented, who made that decision? Was it an individual decision, an established policy, or an instruction from someone else? What reason was given? Show the record.

We will press for our own independent Taxpayer H.R. accountability program: a public-interest initiative to receive documented complaints, examine evidence, recognize constructive responses and seek answers and remedies. It is our civic accountability initiative, not a municipal human-resources department.

Any individual may raise a potential error by H.R. We will review the evidence, correct confirmed errors, identify disputed information and record substantive responses fairly. Our findings must follow the evidence. Every person named may challenge an error—and H.R. must answer for its own mistakes too.

Subscribe, submit a documented Taxpayer H.R. complaint, or request a correction:
